

Unregistered Park & Garden:
South Wheatley Churchyard

NCC/BDC Ref:
 UPG51

Date(s):
 C12

Description & historic information:

Churchyard associated with St Helen's Church, of which only the 12th century chancel arch and 15th century western tower survive. The parish was joined with North Wheatley in 1883, with the church mostly demolished in 1884/5ⁱ. The use of the churchyard for burials was retained. The building remains are grade I listed and Scheduled.

The churchyard is roughly rectangular in shape (unchanged since the 1753 Tithe map), although with a diagonal southern boundary following the course of the Roman road (to Littleborough). Site is enclosed by hedges, with a range of significant gravestones and memorials and various mature and semi-mature trees throughout.

Features of significance:

Remains of west tower and a chancel arch (grade I listed and scheduled), near-rectangular shape with diagonal southern boundary following Roman road, boundary hedges, trees, numerous historic gravestone and memorials.

Aerial photograph of South Wheatley Churchyard, taken 2007 (source: Bassetlaw District Council)

1753 South Wheatley Enclosure Map (Source: Retford Library)

1880s photo of South Wheatley Church (source: North Wheatley PCC)

View of remains of South Wheatley Church (Scheduled Ancient Monument and grade I listed)

Listed Buildings:	Remains of St Helen's Church (Grade I)
Scheduled Ancient Monuments:	St Helen's Church
Conservation Area:	n/a
Local Interest Buildings:	n/a

South Wheatley Churchyard

References:

ⁱ Southwell Diocese website: <http://southwellchurches.nottingham.ac.uk/south-wheatley/hhistory.php>